3.2 Comments

The following trends may be observed based on the above financial ratios:

All of the profitability indices (return on equity, return on assets, profit margin) increased in 2009 in comparison to 2008. In 2010 all mentioned ratios decreased with respect to the prior year. It was caused by the significant fluctuation of net profit throughout all analyzed years together with mutual increase in asset, equity and changes in sales.

Liquidity I ratio performed downward trend in years 2008-2010 and amounted to 2,28 in 2008, 2,14 in 2009 and 1,42 in 2010. The decline was caused by a considerable rise in long term payables combined with a slower increase in working capital.

Liquidity III ratio declined in years 2009-2010 to the level of 0,01 in comparison to 0,06 in year 2008. The changes in the analyzed ratio between years 2009-2010 and year 2008 were caused by the slip in cash and cash equivalents together with an upsurge in short term payables.

Debtors days ratio fluctuated in years 2008-2010. It amounted to 29 days 2008, 41 days in 2009 and 34 days in 2010. The reason behind these fluctuation is a disproportionate increase in trade receivables in comparison to fluctuations in net sales.

Creditors days ratio was moderately raising in years 2008-2009 and in year 2010 amounted to 35 days. These upward trend was mainly triggered by a faster rise in short term payables than operating costs.

The inventory days ratio took off in 2010 in comparison to years 2008-2009. The reason behind the aforesaid trend was increase in obligatory inventory level in the Company.

The Company's stability of financing ratio and the debt ratio at 31 December 2010 indicates increasing debt financing level in comparison with the prior periods. The debt ratio increased stable in years 2008-2010 from the level of 52,9% in 2008 to the level of 59,5% in 2010. The analyzed rise was caused by the significant upswing in payables relating to investment project 10+.

The Company's stability of financing ratio and the debt ratio at 31 December 2010 indicates the lower share of the constant capital in the Company's financing structure. In years 2008-2010 the Company's stability of financing ratio was slightly fluctuating. It amounted to 81,4% in 2008, increased to the level of 83,2% in 2009 and finally decreased to the level of 70,3% in 2010. The slump in 2010 was mainly caused by the reclassification change of the loan financing obligatory inventory from long-term to short-term.

3.3 Going concern

Nothing came to our attention during the audit that caused us to believe that the Company is unable to continue as a going concern for at least twelve months subsequent to 31 December 2010 as a result of an intended or compulsory withdrawal from or a substantial limitation in its current operations.

In Note 5 of the additional notes and explanations to the audited financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2010, the Management Board has stated that the financial statements were prepared on the assumption that the Company will continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months subsequent to 31 December 2010 and that there are no circumstances that would indicate a threat to its continued activity.
